DR. C. W. MOORE'S
Medical and Surgical Institute.
Commercial Street, a few doors below Kearney Str.,
Attending and Resident Physician,
C. W. MOORE, M. D.,
Late Surgeon, U. S. A., Quarantine Physician New Orleans and Boston, Lecturer on Morbid Anatomy and Diseases of Women and Children, Member of the Massachusetts Medical Society, etc., etc

DR. MOORE WOULD RESPECTFULLY inform the people of California that he has established an Institute for the

CURE OF DISEASES
WHETHER CHRONIC OR ACUTE
AT 641 COMMERCIAL STREET,

A few doors below Kearney, where he may be consulted at all hours.

DISEASES OF THE UTERINE OR OVARIAN FUNCTIONS,

Characterized by irregular, suppressed, or painful menstruation, pain in the sides and back, sensation of weight in the pelvis, weakness, nervous headache, leucorrhœa or whites, are treated on scientific principles, and a prompt and permanent cure effected.

NERVOUS AFFECTIONS,

Such as neuralgia, paralysis, giddiness, dimness of vision, etc., will receive special attention.

DISEASES OF THE SEXUAL ORGANS,

Male or female, are treated with all the skill and appliances which modern science has made available.—Nauseous drugs and nostrums, which are so often administered for weeks without benefit, are entirely discarded, and a few days only are required to accomplish a perfect cure.

Secondary and hereditary affections, scrofula in all its manifold forms, dyspepsia, emaciation and debility, treated with certain and unfailing remedies—speedily expelling all corrupt humors, and imparting a healthy tone to the system by purifying the blood, regulating the secretions, and reinvigorating the vital powers.

Twenty years practice in different parts of the world has given the Doctor advantages possessed by few, and his remarkable success warrants a promise of effectual cure.

Medicines, with full directions, will be sent to any part of the State on receipt of letter describing symptoms.

An infirmary is connected with the establishment, where patients who desire may receive board and constant attention during their sickness, thus avoiding the inconvenience of a hotel. Kind and attentive nurses will be employed, and no means will be left untried to give full satisfaction. Consultation free.

TO THE LADIES.—Females in trouble, or afflicted with disease, are respectfully invited to call on Dr. MOORE, and consult him about their troubles. His uniform success in his treatment of Female Suppression and Kindred diseases is a sufficient guarantee of his scientific attainments. Let no false delicacy prevent you, but call at once, and save yourself from future suffering and misery. Consultations are confidential, and his offices are arranged for the strictest privacy. Address, C. W. MOORE, M. D.

THE HUMAN HAIR

HAS LONG BEEN THE STUDY OF THE most scientific men of the age, from the fact that close study generally causes the hair to fall off prematurely; and, in consequence, they have given the subject a portion of their valuable time, trying to invent some method to regain their lost looks; but all their labor was in vain, until after many years of hard study devoted to this one subject, has produced an article that

WILL MAKE THE HAIR GROW,

and which, by its use as a Hair Dressing, will effectually and always prevent its loss—even to extreme old age. Happily, the while possessing these virtues, is most delightful and agreeable without regard to their virtue. The hair, when diseased, becomes dry, and commences to turn grey, which is caused by the non-secretion by the capillary glands of a peculiar oil. It has therefore been thought and believed that if the glands were stimulated into action, they would still give a sufficient supply of nourishment to the hair; but alas! they forget one very important law of nature, viz: that ALL STIMULANTS HAVE THEIR REACTION; and the more the glands were stimulated—the sooner the final loss of the much prized locks. The principle of the preparation invented by Professor Crockett is entirely the opposite—instead of stimulating the capillary glands, he feeds them with the substance they require, and, in turn, the hair is fed by them—on the same principle as giving water to a flower. All we will say to those who are timid about trying new preparations is, that we strictly guarantee the AMYGDALINE to be entirely free from all stimulants, and is as harmless as filtered water, and can be used on the smallest infant. As a

it is unequalled by any the world has yet produced. It keeps the head entirely free of dandruff, eruption, pimples—imparting to the hair a beautiful glossy softness not obtained by an known compound. It will also be found both pleasant and useful as a Cosmetique, surpassing cold cream and face lotions in its effects; for chaps, sore breast and nipples we know of no remedy that is equal to it.

THE PERFUME

used is such that the AMYGDALINE will always retain, it will not become rancid by age; in fact, it is perfect in every particular. Professor Crockett's Amygdaline can be had of all druggists and dealers everywhere. Price, 50 cents.

Ask for Crockett's Amygdaline, and take no other. se25-6m

Adams German Tonic and Aromatic Bitters are a never failing remedy for Billious Diseases and all derangements of the stomach and Digestive organs, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaints, Costiveness, &c. Where the system has been reduced by Fever and Ague, it will prove a valuable auxiliary for a speedy and permanent restoration to health and strength. They are highly refined, grateful to the taste, and remarkably warming, stimulating and invigorating in all there effects upon the system. Price, 50 cts. per bottle. A RUSSIAN ROMANCE.

AN ATTACK ON THE CHOLERA HOSPITAL.

The doctor looked up as I entered, and in the coldest manner possible acknowledged my presence:

I mentioned the report of Alexis, and the possibility of the hospital being attacked during the night. I requested to be allowed to send to the citadel for a company of the Preobrajensky regiment.

"How long, sir, am I to be troubled with these absurb fears?" demanded the doctor, suddenly. "Is it not enough that you deceive me, mock me, encourage your fellow-students to mutiny and insubordination? No, sir, I will have no soldiers to guard the Petro-Paulovsky Hospital. I have seen too much of our peasantry to fear them."

"You do me great injustice, Dr. Tillman," I replied, "and but for one reason that I have, I would not remain another day under your direction."

The doctor's eyes turned red as he took up one of the glass jars and shook it before me. "There is no reptile here," he said, "so full of poison as thou art. Do you think I have not discovered that you dared to administer to the patients of the emperor's hospital your infamous drug? No wonder the ignorant peasantry accuse us of poisoning the sick. I understand, sir, also, your insolent allusion to my daughter; but be sure, sir, she shall never become the wife of a beggarly adventurer. You see this letter," (he pointed to a letter on the table,) "it contains an order for your instant dismissal from the staff of this hospital. No words, sir. Good night. We shall see to-morrow who is master in this place."

I bowed and retired. I was paralysed by Dr. Tillman's threats. A cruel hand seemed snatching me from Olga, and hurling me into an abyss of obscurity, penury, and despair. When I was on the verge, too, of fame, happiness, and a great discovery!

Still I was young and persevering. I might still set myself right with the minister, obtain some fresh appointment, become rich and famous, and win Oliga. One thing I determined. I would send (on my own responsibility) for soldiers, so imminent seemed to me the danger in which we stood at the hospital. I wrote a hasty note to General Mouravieff, then in command of the citadel, sent it by Alexis, and turned in for the night.

My room was at so great a distance from the entrance, and was approached by so many long barrack-like passages, that no groans of the populace could reach me there, no shuffling sound of feet as the bearers bore the bodies to the dead-house disturbed me. I ordered the main entrance of the building to be strictly barred before I went to my room. It was now ten o'clock. I blew out the candle, and, without undressing, threw myself on my bed and fell fast asleep.

I suppose I had slept three hours, when a roaring noise from the market-place awake me. I sat up and listened. It was a deep surging sound, such as you may hear arise from the sea when a storm is growing. It was interrupted every now and then by a burst of shouts and an occasional scream.

Pellican rushed into my room, followed by Maslovitch and a young English student.

"Quick, quick, Campbell. The peasants are attacking the doors, and threatening to kill every poisoning doctor they find."

"Pellican, go out the back way and try and bring some soldiers. Go to the main guard at the Winter Palace. I am afraid Alexis has turned traitor."

"No, Campbell," replied Pelican. I don't go while there is danger. I stop with you. But come, we must keep the door against these madmen. Maslovitch, run through the wards and rouse all the fellows."

Pellican and I hurried to the great entrance, against which some forty axes could now be heard ringing. We had not got down more than the first corridor of the enormous building, when a tremendous splintering crash, and a howl as of many wolves, told us part of the door had fallen. Every moment the roar of voices grew louder. We had reached the last passage leading to the great hall, when a figure in white ran to me from a side room and threw herself at my feet. It was Olga.

"Save my father! save my father, Mr. Campbell! They are murdering him. He tore himself from me, and has gone among them."

I kissed her forehead; and, placing her in the arms of one of the nurses, ran with Pellican down the long flight of steps that led into the hall.

There were forty or fifty great bearded peasants standing beside the half-broken door, swinging their axes and shouting as they faced an old porter and Dr. Tillman with drawn swords.

"Beasts, slaves, pigs!" cried the infuriated old donkey; "advance one step further to defile the hospital the emperor founded, and you die. Back, you hogs!"

As he spoke, he advanced and struck at the leading insurgents. The leaders fell back before the feeble blows of his sword, but a rough butcher's man behind, his hands still red from the slaughter-house, struck him down over their heads with a crashing blow from a pole-axe. By this time I and Pellican were surrounded by some twenty or thirty students, porters, and assistants, with bludgeons and sword-sticks. We bore down to the rescue, and driving the poor wretches back over the door, cleared the hall in a minute. We instantly carried off the body of the wounded doctor into the museum, which opened to the left of the hall; and as the chief entrance to the main wards and to the doctor's apartments lay through that room, we agreed to make that place our citadel: barricading the doors with chairs, forms, stools, and desks.

Fortunately, our assailants, being chiefly bent on our murder, contented themselves for the present with attacking this entrance, and did not proceed, as they might have done, to sack the hospital and carry off the patients. Every minute's respite we obtained, gave us hope of the arrival of the soldiers. It was a dark night, but by the light of the torches that some of the peasants carried we could see the seething mass of greasy black-bearded faces rolling and billowing under the windows.

Our scheme of defence was soon carried out. The doctor, who had received a dangerous wound, was placed on a bed in a side-room under the care of Maslovitch, who was not of a combative nature. When I went to see him and prescribe remedies, I found Olga already at his side. She gave me a look of unspeakable gratitude, and held her hand out for me to kiss.

"Are we in danger?" she asked, in a low voice.

"We are in some danger, Olga, but Heaven will protect us—pray for us!"

When I returned, I found that Pellican had arranged his force with great strategic skill up in the two iron galleries on either side of the barricaded door of the museum. We resolved to defend the door by showering jars of spirits and the heavy bones of skeletons upon every assailant that dared show his face over the threshold. Alas! for poor Dr. Tillman's specimens—the pride of his life, the treasures amassed during long years of patient collecting—down they were to go, splintering missiles to check the fury of an enraged mob.

"Not a man must throw a bottle till I give the signal," cried Pellican from the second balcony, waving a huge glass jar. "When I cry Anafema! Harnish throws, then the rest in turns. We must be cool, or we shall be all dead men before the morning. All I wish is, that every glass was full of vitriol: then we'd mark the rascals. Never mind what wounds you inflict, for if we can only keep a whole skin till the soldiers come, the fellows will return to us to be cured. Now, to your posts, for they are coming on with a vengeance! Look out, Campbell; mind, we begin with the lower shelves. They are dried up, and not of much use. Now then, and God help us!"

There came a rush against the barricade, a crash of axes, and, with shouts of "Give up our Children!" "Give us up our Brothers!" "Tear the poisoners to pieces!" the crowd hewed down the door and rushed in, clambering over the shatted defences.

Four or five of the more daring broke in pell-mell, and, astonished to see no enemy drawn up to receive them, they paused for an instant to wait for their companions.

Pellican gave the word, and down came a shower of glass jars, thigh bones, pestles and mortars, and other extraordinary missiles. Two of the peasants fell stunned; the others, bleeding and frightened, scrambled back into the hall.

Three times the assault was resumed, and three times our splintering rain of horrible pickles drove the serfs back, staggering, amazed, and wounded.

"Never mind," they cried from the hall; "wait till the morning, then we will kill every doctor in the hospital, and throw you all in the canal!"

The fourth assault was more furious than the three previous attacks. Reinforced by hundreds of greasy beards, the peasants crowded in a solid phalanx, and, braving all our missiles, threatened to storm the staircase leading to the gallery in spite of all we could do. But at that moment a discharge of musketry was heard, and a mere handful of soldiers, pouring in a volley at the mob, advanced through the hall with fixed bayonets, and were soon masters of the field. In five minutes more there was not an insurgent in the building, and we had again barricaded the great entrance and placed a guard there. It was Alexis who had brought in the soldiers by a back-garden entrance of which the mob was ignorant.

"So far so good, Campbell," said Pellican, patting Alexis on the back. "Well done, old Hydrocephalus! But it will still go hard with us at day-break if we do not get further help. This time I will go."

I remonstrated with the brave fellow, but all in vain. In a few minutes Pellican had put on the greasy leather caftan of Alexis, his huge, shapeless boots, and his lambwool cap, and given him his dress. He pressed my hands as I went with him to the garden door.

"Good-by, Campbell!" he said. "If I don't come back, be sure the dogs have got me; don't waste regrets on me; I am of no use to any one: only let my father know that I perished in trying to do some good. Adieu!" And he was lost in the darkness.

What a night that was! Spent partly with Olga watching the broken sleep of her father, who was tossing in a fever of pain, partly in supplying the soldiers and students with refreshments, partly in reassuring the sick men in ward, who expressed perfect reliance in our good faith, and who, as they died, died blessing us.

There was no further attack that night, but every now and then a threatening roar broke forth from our besiegers. To-morrow, if no aid came, must bring death to us all. Oh! with what inconceivable agony I watched the hands of the clock from hour to hour, and still there came no tidings of Pellican, no sign of troops!

As the first curding grey streaked the sky, I left the roof where I had been watching, and went to Olga. She was not asleep, but she was on her knees. I kneeled beside her. "Dearest," I said, "our time on earth may be very short. These madmen will soon advance to the attack. Tell me that you love me."

She made no answer, but she placed her hand in mine, and we kneeled hand in hand in that solemn betrothal. We could hear the gathering roar of the peasants below the window as they collected for the assault. I pressed a passionate kiss upon her lips, and ran to the hall to arrange our last defence.

Already the axes were ringing at our barricade, when a distant shout spread and widened till it ran through the vast multitude. The axes ceased their blows, the great mob rolled and heaved and divided, leaving a road through the centre of the market-place. There was a flutter of red and yellow flags, a glitter of spearheads in the first sunlight, and an open carriage drawn by four grey horses dashed to the door. It was the emperor, alone: the lancers, at his order, had retired into the outer street. He was in a plain military cloak, and wore a brass helmet, but no star or order. The barricade of hay wagons fell away as he approached. He prayed and crossed himself before the sacred picture at our door, then stood up in the carriage and addressed the people. He was so near that we could hear his words.

"My children," he said, in his imperial manner, "you are misled. These good men, these good doctors, venture their lives for your good. Not a finger shall be laid upon them. This pestilence is sent from Heaven to punish some of our national sins. Kneel down and pray to God to remove the scourge, and to forgive you!"

I shall never again behold such a sight. In a moment, the multitude, lately so fierce and so thirsting for blood, fell upon their knees, and every head was bowed. When they rose, they slunk away like so many criminals, and some fifty of them surrendered themselves without a murmur to the lancers, who came riding slowly among them. As I was still watching the extraordinary scene, Alexis pulled me by the arm, and up the steps rushed Pellican and seized me by the hand.

"Hurrah, Campbell! Did not I manage it pretty well? I drove to the citadel when I left you last night, and, finding the old brute of a general would not believe my story, or send me any more troops, I took a carriage and three horses and rattled off to Sarskoi Seloi, where, by the best luck in the world, one of the chamberlains whom I knew brought me to the emperor, to whom the riot had already been telegraphed, and now he's coming to see the hospital. Get along and meet him. Hurrah, Campbell, we shall all make our fortunes!"

I went to receive the emperor, who was most gracious. He thanked us for our conduct during the siege, and then went through the wards. The only thing that puzzled him was Alexis, whom, in Pellican's dress, he took at first for one of the medical staff. Next day the minister wrote to me, by command of Nicolas, constituting me a co-adjutor of Dr. Tillmann, who, however, sank from his injuries within the week, and died soon after; but not before he had joined mine and Olga's hands, and begged my forgiveness.

I married dear brave Olga; nor was I long chief physician to the Petro-Paulovsky Hospital, you may be sure, before I made Ivan Pellican the house surgeon.

[END.]

THE WHOLE DUTY OF A GENTLEMAN.—"Never," says Lord Chesterfield, "hurt persons by a malicious speech; do not exalt yourself at the expense of others, nor indulge in a sneer, nor let the temptation of saying a witty thing lead you to do so at the expense of another." One might suppose from this excellent counsel that its author was a model Christian, or at least one of those true gentlemen whose courtesy is of the heart. On the contrary, he was a japanned and highly polished piece of hollow-ware, without a single quality that should endear a human creature to love, honor or respect. The context to the above quotation displays the innate meanness and selfishness of the man. "This passion in people who fancy they can say smart things" he continues, "has made them more enemies, and implacable ones too, than any one thing I know of." His lordship's reason for sparing people's feelings was not malicious speeches hurt them, but that they might not injure the interests of the utterer!

Half the elegant men—so called—one meets with, are of the same stripe as Chesterfield.—Their politeness is a mere formula; there is no soul in it. A man may be a model of deportment, and yet a cold-blooded self-worshipper, a mere Turvey-drop, or something worse. The whole duty of a Christian gentleman is summed up in the Book of books in four words: "Be pitiful, be courteous." Whoever obeys these precepts, is fit for any society. He will carry his welcome with him wherever he goes and need not trouble himself about the by-laws of etiquette.

A ROMANCE OF WAR.—We learn from a gentlemen lately from Morganzia, Louisiana, that there is now being tried at that place, by a court martial, a young officer, attached as Adjutant to a New York Regiment, charged with attempting to betray his men into an ambuscade and desert to the enemy. It seems that the unfortunate young man became enamored of a young lady, the daughter of a wealthy planter, residing not far from the sea coast, and that, desiring to make her his wife, he proposed and was accepted on condition that he would betray his command to a Confederate force to be conveniently ambushed, he deserting to the enemy, who, it was also stipulated, would give him a commision in their service. In an ill-starred moment the unfortunate man degraded himself and accepted the proposition. He consented to the betrayal of his comrades, even unto death, with whom he had fought and by whom he was regarded as an honorable and brave soldier, and looked to him for the faithful discharge of all the duties of the position he had been placed in by his Government. Accordingly plans were laid, and the commander of the rebel forces near by communicated with. A proper pretext given, on the day appointed, he whole force at Morganzia was marched up in search of the enemy, who, it had been asserted, had been depredating upon the neighboring plantations to a degree destructive of the interests of the planters, who were, by the guerrilas, interdicted from raising a crop. However, before they had gone far on the way, the Colonel commanding from the awkwardness of the traitor, suspecting all was not right, halted the column and posting pickets securely, immediately commenced an investigation which culminated in the confession of a sergeant of one of the companies who had been intrusted with the secret by the Adjutant. The Colonel thereupon marched his men back to quarters and promptly ordered a court martial for the trial of the officer, who, there is little doubt will be convicted, and of course shot. If this does not smack of the romance of war nothing that we have heard of in the past four years can be so accounted. The situation, the time, the characters, and the deed attempted, prompted by love, are certainly among the most striking features of the ordinary romance.

THE COARSE ARTS.—"The fine arts do not interest me," said Theodore Parker, "so much as the coarse arts, which feed, clothe, house and comfort a people. I should rather be a great man like Franklin than a Michael Angelo—nay if I had a son, I should rather see him a great mechanic, who organized use like the late George Stephenson, in England, than a great painter, like Rubens, who only copied beauty. In short, I take more interest in a cattle show, and feel more sympathy with the Pope's bull than his bullum. Men talk to me about the absence of art in America. You remember the stuff which M—— used to twaddle forth on that theme, and what transcendental nonsense used to be delivered from gawky girls and long-haired young men. I tell them we have cattle-shows and mechanics' fairs, and shovels, and plows, and harrows, and saw-mills, and sewing-machines, and reaping-machines, and threshing-machines, and planing-machines. There is not a saw-mill in Rome. I doubt if there is one in the Pontifical States."

A MUSICAL genius in Dunkirk, France, is educating a collection of poultry in music. He has already taught a beautiful drake to sing like a canary, and is now at work reforming the "chucks, chucks," of a turkey into something of a sweeter sound.

"WHAT do you mean by cats and dog life?" said a husband to his angry wife; "look at Carlo and Kitty asleep together. I wish men lived half as peacefully with their wives." "Stop," said the lady, "tie them together, and then see how they will agree."

At death a man arrives at immense knowledge, and doesn't open his mouth.

DUTCH FLAT ENQUIRER.

SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. 19, 1864.

Now, by St. Paul, the work goes bravely on,
The Stars and Stripes are up for Liberty,
Flag of the Nation--Talisman of the Free,
Curs'd be the hand that dares to tear thee down.

☞ THE contradiction of the report that Sherman had burnt Atlanta is in turn contradicted and the first report of his having done so is said to be true. It is said Governor Brown, favors the move, and that Sherman is on his way to Savannah with fifty thousand men. Gen. Butler has rejoined the Army ot the James, and previous to doing so favored extending to the rebels the olive branch once more, and in case it was not accepted, sharp and vigorous war. A grand combined attack upon Richmond and Peterburg is anticipated before the close of the present month.

Sheridan has been appointed Major-General in place of McClellan. Missouri gives five thousand majority for Lincoln without the soldiers. Kansas gives Lincoln a majority of over nineteen thousand. Kentucky went two thousand five hundred for the Copperheads.

☞ Selkirk says he noticed that the people of Auburn thought enough of us to place our name upon one of the transparencies carried at the recent jollification in that place. We certainly appreciate the compliment in its proper light, and would beg to be remembered again by them on any like occasion. We are sorry, however, Selkirk, that we cannot say that any one did you the honor—no matter how questionable, to place your name on a transparency, or think enough of you to burn you in effigy even. You mentioned in your last issue where you give the returns, our name in connection with two of the independent candidates, which taken in connection with other portions of the paper, would induce persons to believe that we brought them out in opposition to the Union nominees. Now, we are unwilling to believe you to be an idiot, and therefore are compelled to believe that you knowingly penned a falsehood, which, however, is consistent with your known rule of action, and when you strike upon the truth it is an exception; the people know this. We do not object to being classed with these gentlemen socially; neither of them would recognize you.

The Independent candidate for Collector of this District was induced to come out by Union men, many of whom pledged him their support, some of whom forgot their promises. The other gentleman whom you insinuate came out at our instigation, did so at the suggestion of his immediate neighbors and friends, not at ours. We stated that we considered him to be the best man for the office, and we have seen nothing to alter our opinion of him. We do not say this to the disparagement of either of the others. Your interference in matters that did not concern you, will be thought of. Had you of attended to the election of the Collector of the First District, where—it is reported—you were interested as much or more than the nominee, you might have made yourself less ridiculous. Or, perhaps we are mistaken, and it was because of your interference in places where you are best known that conduced to a Copperhead majority. Excuse us this time.

MORAL SUASION.—A correspondent writing from Iowa Hill under date of the 12th instant, informs us that on hearing the brilliant victory recently achieved by the Union forces at the ballot-box, a Copperhead of that town became so enraged that he commenced a most disgraceful abuse upon a Union man of that town weighing about two hundred pounds whereupon the Union man proceeded to knock down the Copperhead and place his entire weight upon him, and kept the Cop. in that position for about fifteen minutes, refraining, the while, to administer to him the pounding he so richly deserved. He probably thought that the weight of his responsibility was sufficient to crush the Copperhead, wherein he was mistaken; had he had understood the nature of the "sargint" as well as we do he would have known that the pesky things wiggle as long as there is a piece left. However, bully for you, Myrick! Next time you get any of them down, don't let them get up without a pounding.

DON'T DO IT.—Selkirk says that the proprietor and typos of the Stars and Stripes are overworked and hungry, that Selkirk is all right; but in consideration of those named, conjures the patrons who are in arrears to "come up and settle." That is the most unblushing confession, all things considered, that the fellow has been guilty of since he troubled Auburn with his presence. We knew he was tricky, but had supposed he had sense enough to endeavor to conceal his trickery, and some respect for Miller's feelings.

ISORA.—Your enigma will be found in another column, and is very acceptable. Would it be asking too much to request you to furnish the "little folks" with one each week? While we endeavor to make our paper readable for the "old folks" we desire to benefit the ones, and to do so are obliged to present to them such matter as is best calculated to reach and attract their attention.

☞ NOTICE, the Ball advertisement to come off on the 24th inst. It is given for the Jordan Brothers who were crippled at this place whilst firing a salute in honor of the Little Union Guard. Everything necessary for the enjoyment of the guests will be attended to.

"JOHNNY IS GONE FOR A SOLDIER."—John B. Drynan, the young man who represented his Satanic Majesty in this establishment for the last four years, has nobly responded to his country's call and volunteered in Company D., with Capt. M. H. Calderwood. Johnny, may you rise to the dignity of a Major-General, and shed glory and lustre upon your country. May the bullets of the enemy pass harmlessly over you and your brave companions, and when this "c-r-u-e-l war is over" may you be as eager to resume your position in the walks of peace as you are now prompt to place yourself in the front ranks with the defenders of Liberty and Union.

THE RESULT.—Every man, woman and child who can appreciate the blessings of a free government will rejoice at the result of the recent battle just fought at the ballot-box. To be sure, we allowed those who, by their avowed sentiments, both from the press and the stump, repudiated the doctrine that man is capable of self-government, to participate in the very privilege which they were attempting to destroy; yet, after all the manœuvers, treachery, and double-dealing of these aiders and sympathizers of the sworn enemies of our government and the liberal institutions enjoyed under it, we find the great heart of the American people is right that, disregarding the fallacious arguments brought to bear to steal from them the principles of liberty, they have again proved themselves worthy of the great name of American citizens, by caating their suffrages for those who have proven themselves faithful to the Constitution and the people.

We can now say that nothing on earth can prevent us from having and maintaining the government of our fathers in the face of the combined world. Mr. Lincoln is re-elected President of the United States; Andrew Johnson is elected Vice President, and the almost entire Union ticket elected throughout the United States. The Executive, Judicial and Legislative departments of the government were never more unanimous than they will be on the fourth of March next. With this remarkable similarity of feeling, the people may now confidently look for prompt, energetic and vigorous measures to crush out the rebellion and an early re-union of the States: the attempt to separate which in the first place was damnable and hellish. The time, we confidently believe is now near at hand when the true lover of his country may exclaim with joy and pride that he has "one government and one country," that Government the one left us by the Patriot Sires of '76, and that country AMERICA! on the broad face of which universal freedom shall be consecrated forever.

LAUNCHED.—On the 14th of the present month the iron-clad monitor Comanche was launched at San Francisco in the presence of about thirty thousand citizens of that city. This event forms an epoch in the history of our State, and secures safety to our commercial metropolis hereafter from all attacks by water. This news will be hailed with delight by every man who has an abiding interest not only in the honor of our national government by the safety and security of domestic affairs. The San Francisco Alta in giving an account of the launch of this vessel and its dimensions, says:

The work of putting the Camanche together was commenced on the 13th of last July, since which time the work has been carried on toward completion by Donahue, Ryan & Co., the contractors. The turret, pilot-house, guns, etc., will be put on board and in position after she is afloat. The entire work requisite to the fulfillment of the contract for having her ready for service, will be finished by the first of January, next. The dimensions of the Camanche have already been noted, but as a refresher to the memory of many, we give them in brief, as follows: Length of keel, 160 feet; length of deck 200 feet; breadth of beam, 45 feet; depth of hold, 13 feet. The main hull, representing that of most iron vessels, is built with angular ribs, to which are rivetted and caulked half-inch sheets of iron. Attached to the upper part and outside of the main hull, is the armature, projecting from four to five feet, composed of woodwork forty one inches thick, and which is covered with five thicknesses of one-inch iron plates. This armature is made much stronger at the bow and stern, which are pointed and sharp, to give her the destructive powers of the ram.—The deck is covered with two thicknesses of half-inch plate iron. The position of the turret or cupola on deck is about amidships. It is twenty-one feet in diameter, nine feet in hight, and is covered with iron eleven inches thick. Light and air are admitted through holes at the top. The pendulum stoppers for closing the port-holes are of wrought-iron and weigh 8,000 pounds each. The weight of the turret is 158 tons, or. with the guns, 180 tons. Above the turret is the pilot-hause, which is stationary, being fixed to the shaft upon which the turret revolves. It is six feet high, covered with eight-inch thicknesses of iron, and weighs 50,000 pounds. The guns, two in number, are thirteen feet long, fifteen inch bore, and weigh each 21,000 pounds. These are mounted on iron carriages, and are worked in proper position by machinery. The weight of solid shot for one of these guns is 460 pounds, the charge of powder 50 pounds. The impervious smoke-stack, eight feet in hight, is of wrought iron grating six inches thick. Above this rises an ordinary smoke-stack, twenty-five feet in hight, which may be shot away without causing any serious inconvenience. The Camanche is painted a light lead color. When at sea she will be about twenty inches above the water, and taking into account the usual slope of the sea, cannot be seen four miles of.

The launch was a perfect success; only one accident happening, which, however, was a distressing one, one of the ropes attached to the vessel parted as she went off and struck Mr. J. P. Buckley, a former Senator from San Francisco, above the ankle, breaking it.

SAD CASE.—On Tuesday of the election, as the board were engaged in counting the votes polled at this precinct, a man who had voted the Democratic ticket the past twenty years, but who had recently been converted to good Union doctrines—groaned aloud as though in intense agony. A friend approached him and kindly inquired the cause of his distress, when our late Democratic friend exclaimed in great bitterness of spirit: "There are one hundred votes already counted, and Lincoln's name has not been called once!" and immediately fainted. He was properly cared for, and on his restoration to reason was informed that persons voted for President through Electors, when he shouted: "Well, my God, I have been a democrat all my life, and never knew that before. I am glad I am out of that party, I now have an opportunity to learn something," and struck up the tune of "glory hallelujah!" which he has been singing ever since, much to the chagrin of the Copperheads hereabout.

GOLD RUN, NOV. 11, 1864.

MR. ENQUIRER:—When information is desired, it is customary to address an editor. A question has arisen here concerning the meaning of the word, JOLLIFICATION. This is the way of it. On last Thursday evening, the Dutch Flat Union Club paid us a visit of congratulation on old Abes' election to the Presidency, and we had a jolly time of it—bet you! At the conclusion of the exercises, a large sized gentleman with strong lungs, who said he had been appointed for the purpose, because he was good at shouting and could be heard above the confusion, proclaimed in mighty tones an invitation to us Gold Run boys to attend a "jollification" at Dutch Flat, on the following evening. Accordingly, on the ensuing evening, we toddled up to Dutch Flat to the "jollification," with great expectations. I will spare you a description of the "jollification." It was the darndest jollification that you ever went anywhere; the flattest thing that could have been gotten up out of Dutch Flat, but I don't know what might be done in it; maybe it could be beat there, and maybe it could'nt. We joined in the torchlight procession and tried to get up a little enthusiasm, but it was no go. The thing couldn't be did. After a little while it naturally fizzled out and busted. We were then invited to go up into the Union Club Room, and accepted the invitation in good faith. When all of us had trooped in, the door was slammed to, and a big, double-twisted, two-fisted fellow placed his back against it and proposed to other members of the Club who stood ready, "to take up a subscription to pay for their pole and flag." Now, Mr. Editor, we didn't care about subscribing for the pole, but when asked to subscribe for the FLAG under such circumstances, that excited our sympathies. However, we pungled, thinking that the quickest way out was the cheapest way home. As soon as we had done so, the big hombre quit his post at the door which we flung open, and sloped, striking out on the run for Gold Run, each man of us swearing that his confidence had been betrayed and his pockets robbed. Arriving in a straggling condition at Gold Run, we organized our forces at Van's Saloon held a council of war, and concluded to proceed and have a jollification that we knew to be a jollification, though it was getting rather late. Accordingly, we started in. Patriotic songs and speeches by the whole company—fourteen times around to each man—were sung and made, and finally went to bed at 4 o'clock, Saturday morning, full of patriotism, whiskey and recollections of Dutch Flat. Some wiseacres among us rejoicing this morning, in a confused recollection of the whole affair, hold that there must have been two political turnouts that night, and that we got into the wrong procession and fell among Copperheads and thieves; others that it is all right, except that was not the jollification which we were invited to, but merely preliminary to one that is to come off yet. If so, I shant be there, don't keep a torch for me. Just tell us what you think about it, Mr. Editor, not that we care anything about it, but just to please

TWENTY UNION BOYS.

While we sincerely regret that you should have experienced such treatment at the hands of brethren here, as that of which you complain, we hold it to be in bad taste for visitors to growl about the style of entertainment extended to them. However, as you were invited hither with great flourish of trumpets, and confess to having assembled under the hallucination of "great expectations," your reflections may perhaps be deemed in a degree excusable if not altogether natural and irrepressible. Clearly, you have been treated in a most unbrotherly manner, and as Referee in the matter, we desire to fix the blame where it belongs. Upon first consideration, we were inclined to divide it around between him who inveigled you into the Club room, him who bolted the door and him who proceeded to pass around the hat—holding the "man with strong lungs" who proclaimed the original invitation to "come up to a jollification," as accessory before the "operation." But, upon maturer reflection, we are shocked by the conclusion that the entire Club was cognizant to the plot—all the evidence presented going to verify the fact that, though the room was crowded, not a member objected to the high proceedings then and there carried out; and furthermore it appearing that there was a perfect unanimity and concord of action among the members of the Club, from the time that you were received till you were despoiled and allowed to depart. It indeed takes belief that so many heretofore considered excellent persons, pinks of all that was deemed excellent and Straight—should have been engaged in such an affair. But haply, the evidence is too conclusive to admit of doubt. It only remains for you to address yourself to your grievances through the solacing reflection that a new insight into several familiar and important terms in the English language has been gained by the denouement of the Club House Plot—among which are the terms "Guerrilla" and "Jollification."

☞ An exchange says that twenty seven ladies in New Bedford have agreed each to furnish a recruit. But the most discouraging part of the story is, that the ladies are still unmarried. The recruits will not be ready to march for a good while yet.—Placer Herald.

So you would insinuate that the New Bedford girls' promises were made in a spirit of buncomb? That's almighty mean of you Mr. Herald. How can you fathom their prospects or determination? What will you bet (premising the story is correct) that their pledges are not redeemed and the recruits furnished in due time? These are times of military necessities—Look out how you bet your money.

CONGRESSIONAL GAINS.—The Union party makes great Congressional gains in the October and November elections. The subjoined table will show the gains already known:

	1862.		1864.
Pennsylvania	12	12	15	6
Ohio	5	14	16	3
Indiana	4	7	9	2
Maine	4	1	5	0
Illinois	5	9	8	6
Wisconsin	3	3	4	2

Copperhead majority in 1862, 13 members; Union majority in 1864, 41; Union gains, 27. These gains amount to more than the entire Union majority in the last Congress.

STATE VOTE.—With 81,172 votes heard from in this State, exclusive of the soldiers' vote, Lincoln has a majority of 18,316 votes.

VOICE FROM GOLD RUN.

E. B. BROUST, Esq.—Dear Sir:—In the Enquirer of the 12th instant., is an article under the caption "Honor to Gold Run," which may be intended as highly complimentary, but it contains a gross misrepresentation and does a vile injustice to one of your most estimable citizens. In behalf of Gold Run, I ask the privilege of your colums to contradict the assertion that there was on the occasion mentioned any "attempt to turn the grand National rejoicing into the glorification of the Collector elect. We claim the broad patriotism accredited us, and we also claim decency and a love of truth, and "Gold Run while Gold Run stands" will not indorse by her silence the contemptible assertion, that there was an attempt to turn the rejoicing to the glorification of the Collector elect, however much, petty individual spite might be gratified thereat. The Union citizens of Gold Run and Dutch Flat did have on the aforementioned occasion a glorious time in honor of our great Union victories at the ballot-box, and congratulatary speeches were listened to with pleasure and applause, especially the high toned, patriotic and gentlemanly address of Judge Arnold, which was applauded by the Ladies of Gold Run and Dutch Flat, and endorsed by every Union voter in Gold Run. The occasion made everybody feel good with the exception of one poor misguided and probably conscience smitten individual who skedaddled suddenly for a "more congenial clime"—Dutch Flat, assuring everybody that there is scarcely a grease spot left of the Copperheads in this town. I remain &c.,

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION,

By his Excellency Frederick F. Low, Governor of California.

"Offer unto God thanksgiving, and pay thy vows unto the most High."

In accordance with the usage which has hitherto prevailed in this State, and in conformity with the recommendation of the President of the United States, I do hereby appoint

Thursday, the 24th day of November, as a day of public thanksgiving and praise to Almighty God; and I do enjoin upon the people of this State, that on the day thus set apart, they rest from all secular labor, and assemble in their customary places of worship, and, with devout hearts, acknowledge His exalted goodness, His loving kindness and His tender mercies.

Let us thank Him for the measure of health and prosperity that everywhere exists throughout the State; that although the earth has not yielded up its fruits, and the mountains have not sent forth their treasures as in years past, yet want has been kept far from our own doors and comparative abundance blesses our people; that as a Nation, we have been scourged by cruel war, with all the suffering, sorrow and death, which follows in its train; yet within our State the wicked schemes of bad men have been frustrated, and peace reigns within our borders.

Let us thank Him for the great and signal victories that have attended the arms of the Republic, both on land and sea, during the past year; for the occupation by our army and navy of so many strongholds of the insurgents; for the unity of purpose which is everywhere apparent, that must result in a complete triumph of Liberty, Humanity, and Justice, over Treason, Anarchy, and Barbarism. And, above all, let us rejoice at the prospect of an honorable and lasting peace, based upon National Unity and obedience to Constitutional Law.

And, as we gather around the festive board, let us not forget the poor and needy, or those who are sick or afflicted in our midst; let the wants of the poor be supplied from an abundance, and the wounds of the sick be bound up in the oil and wine with which our hearts overflow.

And, while offering up thanksgivings for the successes that have attended our arms, let us not forget the sick and wounded heroes through whose agency God has given us the victory; let the benificent charities, which have for their object the relief of these noble men, be sustained, and their treasuries filled to overflowing by the free will offerings of a grateful people.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the Great Seal of State to be affixed, at Sacramento, this 7th day of November, A. D. 1864.

FRED'K F. LOW.
Governor of California

Attest: B. B. REDDING, Sec. of State.

ANOTHER REGIMENT.—Governor Low has issued a proclamation for another regiment of Infantry, to be called the Eight Regiment California Volunteers. This regiment is to be raised and mustered into service on or before the first of January next. "Rally round the flag, boys. Rally, once again!"

☞ WE would call the attention of our citizens as well as that of persons visiting this place to the Union Restaurant, on the corner of Main and Sacramento streets, recently opened by Mr. Helling, where all can be accommodated with the best the market affords, at prices to suit the times. Oysters and hot suppers furnished at all hours of the night. Board, with lodging, $7 00. Without lodging, $6 00 per week.—Give the new man a chance.

AN ELOQUENT SENTIMENT.—Gov. Low, at the flag presentation in San Francisco on the 14th instant, made use of the following eloquent and patriotic language, just before presenting the flag to the Club of the banner district in that city:

It is a proud and pleasing privilege to me to have the honor of presenting this starry emblem of republican principles to the district in loyal, patriotic San Francisco that deposited the largest proportionate vote in an election that achieved a victory, if not against rebels in arms, at the point of the bayonet, against rebels here, who by cowardly intrigue sought to stab our country in the back, by depositing their ballots to secure the election of a traitor as President. We meet to-night with the ring of cheers resounding from all sections of the great Republic—victories won on the field by our armies, on the ocean by our invincible navy, and at the ballot-box by the unconquerable defenders of Union and liberty—the free people of the United States. I congratulate you, the people of San Francisco, as the heroic-hearted noble and patriotic defenders of the great cause of freedom and the Union. I greet you, on behalf of the country, and say to you, on its behalf—Well done, good and faithful servants.

W. H. KEELER,

Watchmaker and Jeweler.

HAVING JUST RETURNED FROM the Eastern States would announce to the public that he has reopened his old store on Main street, Dutch Flat, one door above the Dutch Flat Water company's office, where he would be pleased to see his old friends and customers and all others who desire anything done in his line. All work done in a neat and workmanlike manner and warranted to give satisfaction. Nov. 12, 1863.–tf.

MRS. S. A. ALLEN,

A LADY OF WORLD-WIDE REPUTATION.

Mrs. S. A. Allen's World's Hair Restorer and Zylobalsammum or World's Hair Dressing are unequalled, and so acknowledged by all who use them for restoring, invigorating, beautifying and dressing the Hair, rendering it soft, silky and glossy, and disposing it to remain in any desired position; quickly cleansing the scalp, arresting the fall and imparting a healthy and natural color to the Hair. They never fail to restore grey Hair to its original youthful color. They act directly upon the roots of the Hair, giving them the natural nourishment required. No lady's toilet is complete without the Zylobalsammum or Hair Dressing. It cleanses hair and imparts to it a most delightful fragrance, and is suited to both young and old.

The Restorer Reproduces.
The Hair Dressing Cultivates and Beautifies.

If your hair is thin, try it; if scurfy, try it; if harsh, try it; if lustreless, try it; of none of these, try it, for all who use it will preserve their hair thro' life. For sale by all Druggists. Agents for California, Hostetter, Dean & Smith, San Francisco.

District Court Summons.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, County of Placer.—District Court of the 14th Judicial District of said State. The People of the State of California, to A. V. Clark, James Armstrong, and D. Nimes, greeting: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint of L. Arnstein in said Court, filed against you, within ten days from the service of this writ, exclusive of the day of service, if served on you without said county, and within said District, twenty days; and if served on you without said county and district, then in forty days from such service, exclusive of the day of service; in an action commenced on the 29th day of August, 1864, in said Court, to obtain a judgment against you the defeddant, A. V. Clark, for the sum of $580 00 and interest thereon at 2 per cent. per month from Sept. 5th, 1863, alledged to be due on your certain promissory note of that date and tenor, to Plaintiff. And also for the further sum of $188 48 claimed to be due plaintiff from you for goods, wares and merchandise sold and delivered to you by plaintiff at your request between the 6th day of of September, A. D. 1863, and the 30th of November 1863. Plaintiff also asks for a decree of foreclosure against certain property mortgaged by you to secure the payment of said sums of money. No personal judgment is asked against defendants Armstrong and Nimes but that their interest or claim in and to said mortgaged property—as well as the interest of defendant Clark therein—be decreed to be subject to the lein of plaintiff's said mortgage. Plaintiff asks for $100 00 attorneys fees, and for his costs of suit; and that all of said sums be paid in gold or silver coin of the United States, all of which you will find more fully set out in complaint on file a certified copy of which is herewith served, and you are hereby notified that if you fail to answer the complaint as directed, Plaintiff will take judgment against you by default, and apply to the court for the relief prayed for—and for such further relief as may be equitable and just.

——— In witness whereof, I, D. W. Spear Clerk of the Fourteenth Judicial District Court aforesaid, do hereunto set my hand and impress the Seal of said Court, at office in Auburn, this 29th day of August 1864.

A LOYAL woman has written an able paper on the crisis, in which she protests against killing off all the men. She says: "I do not believe in fighting for the country and the flag to the last man, and it seems to me everybody is an idiot who talks such nonsense. What would the country be to me or to any other woman if the last man was gone."

A MEMBER of the bar, on a recent passage to Europe in a steamer, observed a shark near them, and not knowing what it was, he asked one of the sailors to inform him. The man replied with much gravity, "Here we call 'em sea lawyers."

PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE

Established by

DR. J. C. YOUNG, IN 1850,

For the Cure of Private Diseases of whatever nature

AND ALL FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

CONSULTING OFFICE,

540 WASHINGTON STREET,

SAN FRANCISCO, : : : : : CALIFORNIA

NO CURE, NO PAY.

Consultation by letter or otherwise, FREE. For direction of letters, see below.

THIS CELEBRATED INSTITUTE has enjoyed on this coast an uninterupted success of fourteen years, and has become one of the renowned Hospitals of the age. What the celebrated Lock Hospital is to London, and the no less renowned establishment of Ricord is to Paris, this Institute has become to the Pacific coast. The thousands annually received and cured place it in point of number of patients among the very first of the world, and the success of its treatment ranks it second to none.

PRIVATE DISEASES IN MALES and IRREGULARITIES IN FEMALES are the great destroyers of health. They insidiously attack the system and gradually undermine and destroy it; they drive the bloom from the cheek, the lustre from the eye, the strength and vigor from the frame; they give to the world puny and diseased offspring, and poison, through successive generations the race of man. The marks can be seen in Scrofula, Consumption, Cripples, the Idiotic, the Paralytic, the Insane, etc.

There is no more terrible scourge to the human race than those diseases arising from the contamination of Venerial Poison. The mildest forms, by retreating to the blood, hold ever over the one afflicted, the sword of destruction that is liable at any moment to fall and blight—to utterly destroy—all earthly hopes.

MERCURY, recognized as the most fatal medical enemy to man, combining with the Venerial, doubles its dangers. Those who have been treated with that pernicious mineral poison are not cured: the disease has only assumed a new form.

Do not be satisfied with partial cures that leave the poison to crawl through the system, eating its way into the tissues and organs beneath the apparently smooth surface, to burst out in the future with a virulence that will baffle the effects of medicine. WHEN PERFECT CURES can be obtained by consulting a physician whom long practice and thorough investigation into the causes of DISEASES of the URINARY ORGANS enables to determine at once the nature of the disease.

In all diseasses entrusted to the Doctor's care, PERFECT, SPEEDY and PERMANENT

Cures are Always Guaranteed,

In syphilis and its adjuncts; Gonnorhœa and its accompanying diseases; and all disorders of the Bladder, Kidneys and prostrate; Seminal Weakness; Diseases of the Heart and Lungs; Dyspepsia; Indigestion, Impotency; Incipient Consumption, and all diseases of the urinary organs, in either sex, cure always warranted, OR NO PAY REQUIRED at the PRIVATE

MEDICAL INSTITUTE,

No 540 Washington street, San Francisco, Cal.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS OR SPERMATORROEA.

The young man who experiences that growing weakness in his muscular and mental organization should stop to consider whence it arises. He will find in the weakness of the back, trembling of the limbs, disordered digestion, unaccountable failing of the powers of the mind, distaste for society, dread of impending trouble, forebodings of evil, sleeplessness, troubled and lscivious dreams accompanied by growing deafness, loss of muscular power, and numerous other symptoms of disorganization, the positive traces of that most terrible and destructive of all diseases, Seminal Weakness—wasting away his powers, destroying his hope of life and manhood, and dragging him along the broken path of his existence toward a premature and loathsome grave. To him who finds his life dribbling out in the discharge of the vital principal of existence in nocturnal and diurnal emissions, the mere cessation of its appearance brings no assurance of relief.

Marriage, that holy office, the safeguard and hope of manhood, brings to such an one no hope of cure, but adds to his misery in the knowledge that the one who looks to him for so much of her happiness, is a victim of his evil, and an innocent companion of his punishment. He adds to his misery and disorder until hope leaves him. There is no rescue except in proper and skillful treatment. Consult, then, at once, a physician whom long practice and careful research has made thoroughly conversant with every phase of the disease. Those who have become the victims of solitary vices, that dreadful, fascinating and destructive habit, which fills thousands of sick rooms with paralytics and consumptives, and hundreds of untimely graves with its misguided victims, should consult, without a moment's delay, one who will sympathize with their sufferings. To such the Doctor would especially address himself, giving to each and all assurance of a PERFECT and PERMANENT CURE, without hindrance from business, change of diet, or fear of exposure.

Do not forget the address. See below.

IMPORTANT TO FEMALES.

When a female is in trouble or afflicted with disease, and requires medical or surgical assistance, the enquiry should be, Where is there a physician who is fully competent to administer relief, and whose respectable standing in society recommends him to the confidence of the community? The Doctor, understanding how imperatively necessary these requirements are, feels called upon to interpose, and by the attention of the afflicted to the fact that he has been a Professor of Obstetrics and Female Diseases for twenty years, and is fully qualified to administer in all cases, both medically and surgically, not in a superficial manner, but in as thorough a manner as years of study and practice—both in hospitals and private families—can make, to save them from the hands of the unqualified, unscrupulous and designing. Therefore families can rely upon him as upon a father. All in affliction can find in him one who can feel and sympathize with and befriend them in trouble—one in whose secrecy and the utmost confidence can be placed. Consultation, by letter or otherwise, free. See address below.

THE CELEBRATED FEMALE REMEDIES, compounded from the private prescription of Dr. Young, have now obtained a most extended popularity, and are correctly viewed to be the safest and surest remedies for the complaints for which they are applied. The constantly accruing testimonials of their efficacy declare them to be pre-eminently superior in their action. No lady should be without these Renovating Agents. None genuine unless procured at this office.

Sent by Mail or Express, to any part of the State. THE GREAT FEMALE MEDICINE! PREVENTIVE POWDERS FOR MARRIED LADIES. Now, Safe and Infallible, lasting from four to six months. Price $10.—French Lunar or Female monthly Pills, for suppressions. After fifty years of use these pills stand unrivalled in efficacy. Price $5 per box.

To Correspondents.

Patients residing in any part of the State however distant, who may desire medical advice on their respective cases, and who think proper to submit a written statement of such in preference to holding a personal interview, are assured that their communications will be held most sacred.

All letters must be addressed to the corresponding physician, thus:

Rosenbaum's Bitters!

Are you suffering from Dysentery or Diarrhœa? Use

Rosenbaum's Bitters!

And be relieved. Did you get tight last night, and feel bad in consequence? Drink a few glasses of Rosenbaum's Bitters!

And it will set you up at once. Are you troubled with Vertigo or Nausea? You can be quickly relieved by the use of Rosenbaum's Bitters!

Are you a martyr to Billious Diseases, or Fever and Ague? You can soon be restored to health by the use of Rosenbaum's Bitters!

The unequalled efficacy of these bitters for the cure of all diseases of the stomach and bowels, and their wide spread reputation, having induced some unprincipled persons to counterfeit them, the Proprietors have determined to prevent this in future, by putting them up in a new style. After this they will be packed in Square Bottle, having

PUTNAM'S Clothes WRINGER.

IT IS THE ONLY RELIABLE

Self-adjusting Wringer.

NO WOOD-WORK TO SWELL OR SPLIT

No Thumb-Screws to get out of Order.

Warnted with or without Cog-wheels.

It took the FIRST PREMIUM at Fifty-seven State and County Fairs in 1863, and is, without an exception the best Wringer ever made. Patented in the United States, England, Canada, and Australia. Agents wanted in every town, and in all parts of the world. Energetic agents can make from $3 to $10 per day. Sample Wringer sent Express-paid on receipt of price. No. 2, $6 50. No. 1, $7 50. No. F, $8 50. No. A, $9 50. Manufactured and sold, wholesale and retail, by the

PUTNAM MANUFACTURING CO.,

No. 13 Platt str., New York, Cleveland, Ohio, and Birmingham, Vt.

S. C. NORTHROP, Agent.

WHAT EVERYBODY KNOWS:

That Iron well galvanized will not rust; that a simple machine is better than a complicated one; that a wringer should be self-adjusting and efficient; that thumb-screws and fastenings cause delay and trouble to regulate and keep in order; that wood soaked in hot water will swell, shrink and split; that wood bearings for a shaft to run in will wear out; that the Putnam Wringer, with or without cog-wheels, will not tear the clothes; that cog-wheel regulators are not essential, that the Putnam Wringer has ALL the advantages, and not one of the disadvantages above named; that all who have tested it, pronounce it the best Wringer ever made; that it will wring a Thread or a Bed-Quilt without alteration.

We might fill the paper with testimonials, but only insert a few to convince the skeptical, if such there be; and we say to all, test Putnam's Wringer. Test it thoroughly with ANY and ALL others, and if not entirely satisfactory, return it.

Putnam Manufacturing Co.—Gentlemen:—I know from practical experience that iron well galvanized with zinc will not oxidize or rust one particle. The Putnam Wringer is as near perfect as possible, and I can cheerfully recommend it to be the best in use.

Respectfully yours, JNO. W. WHEELER,

Cleveland, Ohio.

Many years' experience in the galvanizing business enable me to indorse the above statement in all particulars. JNO. C. LEFFERTS,

New York, Jan. 1864. No. 100 Beekman str.

We have tested Putnam's Wringer by practical working and know that it will do. It is cheap; it is simple; it requires no room, whether at work or at rest; a child can operate it; it does its duty thoroughly; it saves time and its saves wear and tear. We earnestly advise all who have much washing to do, with all intelligent persons who have one, to buy this Wringer. It will pay for itself in a year at most.

WE beg to assure the public that the well-known reputation of these Machines for RELIABILITY will be fully sustained, and in our rapidly increasing business the same care will be faithfully exercised in every department of our manufacture. Every Machine sold by us IS WARRANTED IN EVERY RESPECT.

The public attention is respectfully requested to the following

Card from the Grover & Baker S. M. Company.

The public, in their eagerness to supply themselves with Sewing Machines making the GROVER & BAKER stitch must not forget to purchase them of the parties who alone are authorized to sell them. All machines sewing from the spools and in which one needle only penetrates the cloth, and having a feed which allows the material to be turned at will are infringements

GROVER & BAKER, S. M. CO.

A Card from Elias Howe, Jr.

All persons are cautioned not to make, deal in, or use, any Sewing Machines which sew from two spools and make the stitch known as the GROVER & BAKER stitch, unless the same are purchased from the GROVER & BAKER SEWING COMPANY, or their Agents, or Licenses, and stamped under my patent of September 10, 14.

Said Company and their Licenses, alone, are legally authorized under their own patents, and my said patent, during the extended term thereof, to make and sell this kind of Sewing Machines, and all others are piracies upon my said patent, and will be dealt with accordingly wherever found.

WATTS' NERVOUS ANTIDOTE.

The Greatest Medical Discovery OF THE AGE!

A CERTAIN AND SPEEDY CURE!

FOR ALL NERVOUS AFFECTIONS,

THIS MEDICINE IS OF A PURELY VEGETABLE preparation and has never been known to fail in effecting a permanent cure in the following cases:

Ague, Anxiety, Loss of Appetite, Asthma, Bronchitis, Cholera Morbus, Rheumatism, Convulsions, Delirium Tremens, Mental Debility, Dyspepsia, Headache, Hysterics, Heart Disease, Palsy, Imbecility, Impotency, Suppressed Menses, Neuralgia, Pleurisy, Restlessness, St. Vitas Dance, Dolorous, and Whooping Cough, &c., &c.

Columns of certificates of cures might be published, sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical, that this medicine is all that its discover claims for it. Persons with any of the above diseases, will do well to give it a trial before dosing themselves with mineral poisons, that while they sometimes afford temporary relief alway leave behind them the seeds of some other disease, oftentimes far worse than that which they are given to cure.
